Source code of PowerMethod

26 de noviembre de 2020

1. Matrix.py

```
import numpy as np
    import csv
    from Util import Util
    class Matrix:
    def __init__(self, *args):
             # A new matrix is created by giving the args[0] parameter 9
10
             # if args[0] is an integer then it will create a square
11
             # matrix with this parameter.
12
             if isinstance(args[0],int):
                       self.size = args[0]
                       \textbf{self}.\ \texttt{matrix} = \texttt{np.transpose}(\texttt{np.random.dirichlet}(\texttt{np.ones}(\texttt{args}[0]), \texttt{size} = \texttt{args}[0]))
14
15
                       self.rows, self.columns = self.matrix.shape 16
             # if args[0] is a string (the path of csv file) then it will load the 17
18
             # csv \ file \ in \ a \ new \ matrix 19
             elif isinstance (args[0], str):
20
                       util = Util 21
                       self.file = args[0] 22
                       file = open(self.file) 23
                       rows = len(file.readlines()) 24
                       file.close() 25
                       self.rows = rows
                       with \mbox{\tt open}(\,\mbox{\tt self}\,.\,\mbox{\tt file}\,,\,\,\,\,\,{}^{'}\mbox{\tt r}\,\,{}^{'}) as n\,File:
26
27
                                line = nFile.readline()
                                self.columns = line.count(',') + 1 28
29
                                self.matrix=np.empty((self.rows, self.columns)) 30
31
                       #fill the matrix
32
                       with open(args[0]) as csv file: 33
                                csv_reader = csv.reader(csv_file, delimiter=',') 34
                                f = 0 35
                                for row in csv reader:
36
                                          for c in range(self.columns): 37
                                                   self.matrix[f,c] = util.stringToFloat(row[c]) 38
39
             # creates a canonical vector 40
             self.canonicalVector=np.empty((self.rows,1)) 41
             for f in range(self.rows):
42
                       if (f = 0): 43
                                self. canonical Vector [f, 0] = 1 44
                       else: 45
                                self. canonical Vector [f, 0] = 0 46
    def getNumberOfRows(self):
47
48
             return self.rows
49
50
    def getNumberOfColumns(self):
51
             return self.columns
52
53
    def getMatrix(self):
54
             return self. matrix
55
56
    def getCanonicalVector(self):
             return self.canonicalVector;
57
58
59
    def setCanonicalVector(self, canonicalVector):
60
             self. canonical Vector = canonical Vector
```

2. Operation.py

3

6

8

9

10

 $\begin{array}{c} 11 \\ 12 \end{array}$

13

14

15

16

17 18

19

20

21

22

23

24

 $\frac{25}{26}$

27 28 29

30

31 32

33

34

```
from Matrix import Matrix
import numpy as np
class Operation:
         def __init__(self, iterationNumber, arg):
                   \textbf{self}. iteration Number \ = \ iteration Number \textbf{self}.\,\mathrm{arg}\,=\,\mathrm{arg}
                   self.iteration = []
         def powerMethod(self):
                   self.iteration = []
                   self.result = None
                   matrix = Matrix(self.arg)
                   value=self.checkStochastic(matrix)
                   if value == True:
                             for x in range(self.iterationNumber): \textbf{self}.\ result = np.\ dot\left(\ matrix\ .\ getMatrix\ (\ )\ , matrix\ .\ getCanonicalVector\ (\ )\right)
                                      matrix.setCanonicalVector(self.result) \textbf{self}.\ iteration.\ append (np.\ transpose (\,\textbf{self}.\ result\,)) return True
                   else:
                            return False
         def getIteration(self):
                   return self. iteration
         def checkStochastic(self, matrix):
                   listOfValues = np.sum(matrix.getMatrix(),axis=0)
                   for x in listOfValues:
                             if round(x,4) = 1:
                                      return False
                   return True
```